Q: Using methods in one class to update a global variable in another Let's say I have this class: `public class Game{ private static Player p1, p2; public static Player getPlayer(){ return p1; } public static void setPlayer(Player player){ p1 = player; } }` Let's also say that Player has a field called `playerString` and I want to save a string that can be changed in the `p1` method so that any other class using the `setPlayer` method can change the value of `p1.playerString`. So far I've tried this: `public class Main{ public static void main(String[] args) throws FileNotFoundException { File f = new File("text.txt"); Scanner`
