Q: How to override @BeanFactoryConfigurationDelegate method? I have bean named DatabasePersistenceManagerFactory created in xml file. I want to use a profile for my taskmanager so instead of databasePersistenceManagerFactory bean I want to use my own bean named DatabasePersistenceManagerFactoryProfile. I want to create it with @BeanConfigurationProperties where I configure setters for some properties. @BeanConfigurationProperties public DatabasePersistenceManagerFactoryProfile customPersistenceManagerFactoryProfile() { return new DatabasePersistenceManagerFactoryProfile(); } I tried to do it as described in documentation. But method @PostConstruct was not invoked. How to correctly override this method? A: As you tagged you use @BeanConfigurationProperties on your DatabasePersistenceManagerFactoryProfile bean definition. If you look at the java doc for @BeanConfigurationProperties you will see that this bean definition accepts these methods: @Bean @ConfigurationProperties(prefix = "spring.data.mongodb.profile") public MongoMappingContextConfigurationProperties profileProperties(ProfileProperties profileProperties) So you could call your setters inside of this method. public class DatabasePersistenceManagerFactoryProfile { @Bean @ConfigurationProperties(prefix = "spring.data.mongodb.profile") public MongoMappingContextConfigurationProperties profileProperties(ProfileProperties profileProperties) { this.profileProperties.setDatabaseName("dbname") ... return this.profileProperties; } } Also see this answer.
