I want to create a ssis package using variable values, but all the variables defined in a variable list are used for the data. How can I use a variable values for the package? A: If by variables you mean object variables, then they are used as a container for data. You will have to write your own code to create a package using object variables. If by variables you mean text variables, then they contain data only. You can see the data typed in them at the DTS editor as a colored background behind the text. . Huang, B. W.
