We performed immunohistochemical studies in order to compare the expression of p35 and p53 in subcutaneous adipose tissue from obese subjects and lean subjects. In addition, the adipocytes of obese subjects were characterized morphologically and biochemically. In obese subjects, the number of tumor necrosis factor alpha-positive macrophages was significantly increased, while the area of crown-like structures was significantly increased. Immunohistochemical studies demonstrated higher expression of p35 and p53 in adipocytes of obese subjects. The expression of p53 was increased in hyperplastic adipocytes of obese subjects, whereas the expression of p35 was not different. To conclude, these results show that p35 and p53 are involved in the development of adipose tissue enlargement, with p35 possibly playing a more important role in the hyperplasia of adipocytes. Amoeba #2 The Amoeba described in Episode 1 was a metaphoric amoeba, encysted into a red-and-white 'crop circle' of political-media-business seduction that grew slowly into a malaise that defies reason. There was yet another growing amoeba in this episode: the amoeba of Don Imus. Imus listened to the protestors outside his mother's house, and, at the risk of riling the Fox news gang, said out loud what everybody thought was already in their heads. But the press, looking at the news of a few days earlier, said that Imus had stepped over a line. He'd called the protestors 'niggers', crows and football players, and implied that they shouldn't be allowed on city streets because they were 'problem-causing nigs'. This "nigger" talk was too much for the radio ratings, and even for his employer, CBS, Imus was suspended. The result was a race to the legal 3e33713323
