But, according to TMZ, that doesn't mean that Ashton Kutcher really didn't do it. The gossip website reported on Tuesday that Kutcher was not the one who was responsible for the recent $20 million in damage to his $11 million Pacific Palisades home. Rather, a handyman hired to install an outdoor television has apparently been the culprit. According to TMZ, the suspect is reportedly a 28-year-old employee of a handyman service. In his recent bankruptcy filing, Kutcher reported a "television and other household goods" among his "personal property." "He never filed for a million dollars to pay for the damage," a source told TMZ, "but he did list the value of the personal property damaged." "It was worth $20,000, which is the value of the TV," the source added. But that's not all. Kutcher also claimed a $25,000 charge to his personal credit card for a removal of two paintings. "I believe those are the only charges he filed for the damage," the source said. "He was doing an insurance claim — but it's not with the insurance company." The source added that, at this point, "it's unclear if he'll have to pay out of his own pocket or if the company will cover it."Long-

User reviews Date published: 2016-10-11 Rated 5 out of 5 by Aussie Matt from Automatic Easy and Quick. This is great. Works well, takes 1 step to restore, and it does it without fail. Date published: 2016-09-15 Rated 5 out of 5 by Terri from Great app for system restore. I use this to help migrate users and clean up old workstations. Never really had an issue with it. Date published: 2016-07-06 Rated 3 out of 5 by BobH from Usability could be improved, especially restoring to new email accounts. When installing, if you get an email from your own account, you can go ahead and do a restore, which will import the entire account in 1 step. You can also choose "add or remove items to restore" which would be a nice feature, if there were no "restore" steps already in place. Date published: 2016-06-13 Rated 5 out of 5 by Aussie Matt from I use this all the time. I have a windows mail database that has hundreds of contacts and it can be a pain to get all the information back to a new email address. This is so easy to use and does a good job of it. Date published: 2016-06-05 Rated 5 out of 5 by jennifer from Fast and easy. This works great. Date published: 2016-05-28 Rated 5 out of 5 by Aussie Matt from Works great. Restores all your emails without a hitch. Date published: 2016-05-21 Rated 3 out of 5 by BobH from Restore wizard requires a lot of steps in order to do a full restore. This is a Windows 7/8 system and this program requires that you have windows 10. Date published: 2016-05-20 Rated 5 out of 5 by Anonymous from I love this. Date published: 2016-05-10 Rated 5 out of 5 by Anonymous from I use this daily.
