What's new in AEON BLOOD:

"There is nothing more important and there is nothing else that is as interesting as your own body in its own right," said Wolkano. "I was thinking that at night I would say to myself, 'I need to understand the workings of the human body.' I was going to the healing center, listening to people talk about their diseases and their feelings, and I was thinking about it. I was 24 years old. And I went to the doctor's and said, 'What is wrong with me?' He said, 'You're giving too much respect to your body.'" David Wolkano is an artistic genius. And he's building a dance company from scratch. He is whyt, a man with an excess of energy, positive spirit and will. The native of Philadelphia works and lives in Buenos Aires, where he is director, producer, choreographer and occasional dancer in the "Dance de la Ciudad" theater company. During his stay in this city, he helped other US-based artists to spread their footings in Buenos Aires and Argentina. Specializing in body dance, the company has a multi-million dollar budget and is in demand throughout Latin America. David Wolkano is also a teacher, lecturer and master, because he doesn't only achieve. He teaches. Their works are accompanied by piano, drums and flute, the future also includes narration and songs, using life as a material. Each dance tells a story, you become a story, a specific narrative genre. There are stories about love, sexuality, the origin of life, environmental pollution and ecology, among others. "We are going to expand, to go through the whole world: to Madrid, London, Tokyo, New York, the United States, the Andes," he said, proudly, being director of the company for two years, until the end of 2016. In 2016, he left for the United States where he is studying Physics at the University of California - Los Angeles. In addition, he sent photographs of his performances all over the world to the Yalahuriri (Mother's) in Tulo, a Wayuu village of Curará, Pará. The purpose is to propose the art of "tales of life" as a possible solution for the mission of UNESCO to foster and transmit "knowledge, culture, science and tradition" to all in a life full of colors, sounds and stories. Confused and in despair
