PSG have hit out at Arsenal's James Tuimola and Manchester United's Jesse Lingard for being "silly". The French giants are determined to make their mark at World Cup 2018 and believe their squad is in good shape to achieve the feat, despite widespread criticism. Despite being a club with a long history of developing young talent, Neymar's PSG career has been far from successful - with only N'Golo Kante, Adrien Rabiot and Marco Verratti emerging from the club's academy - but Neymar has made a great impact this season. Perisic has scored six goals in 15 appearances across all competitions, with Croatia currently occupying third in Group D, while PSG sit just below the continent's eventual semi-finalists Spain. "If you're asking me about Jesse Lingard and James Tuimola they are just silly players," Perisic told Tuttosport. "They don't need to be there. I am not good enough to make the same mistake twice. I need to play against the best players." Perisic was asked if the European Championship and World Cup could still happen if Croatia are eliminated in the round of 16, with their previous opponent Serbia being in another group. "I don't know," he said. "We are thinking about only today and the next game. After that we will think about the next four or five years and football as well.

"That's why I have a special contract which doesn't include any numbers. I have no plan B in case
