What's New In ArcaVir Internet Security?

The ever-growing number of online threats makes computer users be more and more aware of the importance of having a reliable security solution installed when navigating on the Internet. ArcaVir Internet Security is one of the available alternatives, providing a package of tools that work together to protect your system against viruses, phishing attempts, spam and other types of malware. Novice-accessible user interface The interface is well organized and intuitive, displaying the protection status and offering easy access to every other option, including scanning reports, the quarantine sector or detection statistics. ArcaVir Internet Security comes with real-time antivirus protection, thus monitoring files, downloads and e-mail messages. On-demand scanning is also an option and the Molecule Technology, together with the heuristics engine ensure a high detection rate. When a threat is found, the program can automatically clean, delete or move the file to quarantine, but it can also be set to prompt you for action. Offers way more than meets the eye at first The package includes additional online safety tools, such as the HTTP scanner, which is designed to identify potential threats on visited webpages, the 'Access Control' module (which removes site active content, allows you to configure Internet access rules and blocks improper content), the mail protection tool (which scans sent and received messages for malicious content) or the antispam module. Additionally, the included firewall is designed to prevent data theft, while the registry monitor can detect changes in the system registry. Web content filtering, process management, proxy usage and customizable user profiles are other features that this application comes with. Also, it can run in game mode, which means that it lowers its system resources requirements during your gaming sessions. Brings together antivirus features with other, very handy system tools The ArcaVir Internet Security package brings together antivirus and firewall protection, parental control elements and online security tools, while trying to find a balance between protection efficiency and resource requirements.
