Audiolibro Psicocibernetica Maxwell Maltz Psico Cibernetica [Psycho Cybernetics] Maxwell Maltz, M.D. (born September 18, 1896) was an American psychologist, neurologist, psychoanalyst and author. His major contributions to psychology and psychotherapy were his use of the Freudian concept of transference. He theorised that the beginning of psychotherapy was when the patient recognized the therapist as a potential authority figure capable of giving him or her insight into his or her unconscious past. The term transference was introduced in the period of 1930 to 1950. It was used

In simple terms, it means that you are seeing things or seeing others' secrets. But you may feel like you are seeing things that no one else sees. How does this work? The following have been linked to crystal ball phenomenon: Stabbing pain, aching or shock or other types of sensitivities. Having your eyes or entire body filled with colours. Feeling an increase in psychic abilities. Feeling a shift in your vibration. Pulse racing. Feeling like you are on a ride in a circus. Feeling like you are frozen in time and space. Feeling like you see dead people or aliens. Feeling like you can see others' thoughts. Feeling like something is watching you. Feeling like something is talking to you. Feeling like you are somehow becoming damaged or dying. A strong sense of butterflies in the stomach. A feeling of deep unease. Feeling of dizziness, weakness, or fear. Wanting a drink but unable to move. Feeling tears running down your face. A feeling that you can feel or see the energy of this person (or place, or object) or the whole thing. Feeling the need to question what others are saying. Wanting to listen to music or watch a film. Feeling that someone or something is reading
