

Karate With his friendly and outgoing nature, Myers usually is the catalyst that sets things off on the field. Prior to the start of the game, Myers' teammate, Morgan Freeman, told members of the White team, "You're going to win the game." Myers' optimism, is what makes him stand out above other offensive linemen. Head Coach Jones often states: "The one thing I love about our team is that everybody comes to work.. I have not played at this level before and it is intimidating just knowing that there are players out there who have been in this league for over 15 years." On July 1, Cleveland-based Energy Frontier Research Center (EFRC) officially began construction on its first solar photovoltaic (PV) plant in the U.S. at the Sierra Laredo Industrial Park in Brownsville. Since then, construction crews have been pouring concrete and installing solar panels. With completion of the project in September, the center will be able to begin testing and producing energy-rich sunlight, according to project officials.

The center's goal is to strengthen the area's local economy by creating energy-rich solar power for Brownsville and Rio Grande City, said Hubert Rymer, EFRC's CEO and president. "We're tackling important projects like this," Rymer said. "It's about communities and people looking to the future, and we're really pleased to be part of the solar PV movement in the Rio Grande Valley." EFRC's electric rate is $0.0225 per kilowatt-hour (kWh), and it has signed a long-term power contract with a local utility, drawing upon a load of 100 kilowatts per hour
