When you insert a number, time, or. 5 2 .3095 Q: How to write a generic version of a sequence generator In Clojure, rather than just using (next) for generating sequences, I'd like to write a single function that can take a function and some starting value to produce a sequence of numbers. E.g. (numbers-seq [<sup>i</sup> i]) -> 1 2 3 4 5... I thought I could do something like: (defn numbers-seq [f & seq] (->> seq (f))) but this raises an error: java.lang.Exception: Cannot resolve symbol: seq in this context which makes sense, but I don't want to write a (defn numbers-seq...) for each different situation. A: seq function does not belong to clojure standard library, and if you look at defn-seq definition in clojure.core namespace you can see that seq is defined in clojure.lang namespace. So, correct function definition is (defn numbers-seq [f & seq] (->> seq (f))) EDIT after comment It is possible to define generic function using existing seq function. You can redefine Seq definition and write (defn seq-gen [f & _seq] (let [x (seq (f))] (if (seq? x) (seq x) (f x)))) EDIT 2 after comment Since Clojure 1.7 seq has additional parameters (defn seq-gen [f & a seq] (let [x (seq a)] (if (seq? x)
