Plasmonic nanomaterials for bioanalysis are an emerging field, but the synthesis of individual plasmonic nanostructures with unique properties is extremely challenging, even with state-of-the-art techniques. Herein, we report an all-trans-amino polyamide-doped silica nanoparticle (A-SiNPs) with good uniformity and tunable plasmonic properties that can be applied to bioanalysis. Specifically, we synthesized A-SiNPs with excellent optical properties, which were used to construct an aptasensor based on a plasmonic photocurrent enhancement effect. The sensitivity and specificity of our biosensor have been demonstrated in detecting different bacterial pathogens.Q: Create navigation history in web page with asp.net I am very new to asp.net and I have to create a navigation bar on my page, which will have a history for each visitor. For example, if the visitor comes first to the main page and the first time I give the first link in the navigation bar, then I have to fill the navigation history with the first visit. And the second time the visitor comes to the page, the visitor should see the first page as in the history. And for the third time the visitor comes to the page, the second page should come as in the navigation history (like the first time). How
