Developed by EA Tiburon, the industry-leading motion capture studio behind Need for Speed and FIFA series titles, and powered by the Frostbite engine, FIFA 22 delivers the most authentic, most realistic and most exciting football simulation on Xbox One and PlayStation 4. This is FIFA 22 gameplay from earlier this year. Last word "I was told back then that I wouldn't be able to control a player in real time during gameplay. I was told that only the AI could control a player in real time. That's just not true, the technology is in the game. The new controls are very intuitive, and are in-line with other sports games, they are easier to play. Not only that, but they let you do more, and more efficiently. How often do you get shots off in soccer games, even FIFA 19? Playing FIFA 22, I am much more efficient in shooting and hitting the ball." FIFA 22 - April 19 Hovering over players "I like to have data on top of the player. It tells you so much about the player's current status. It's not just about where the player is, but where the player was. What's he working on? What are the last play of the defender? When the defender is going to tackle you? When the defender is going to push off? All those details that, in the past, you couldn't get to. I mean, I could get to the star rating when I played FIFA 19, but I couldn't get a true picture of a player. That wasn't there back then. I could go with the instincts of the defender, but I wasn't able to analyze where the player went and where he is currently." "I can tell you this, when you have a good player, the best player, and he's doing well, he will flutter. That's his hand. He will basically stay above the ball, and will tell you where the opponents are. That means you know where his weaknesses are, and you know if he is going to pass or if he's going to run. It's a picture, an image that's basically in the top right. You can see it. You can manipulate where that is so you can tell if a player is going to pass or not. It's nice." "I mean I haven't checked, but I'm sure he's someone who, if you have a good connection with

Fifa 22 Features Key:

- New motion and player intelligence.

Discover a new generation of 'Game Face Technology'. With a more defined Intelligence, you'll be able to more easily and consistently identify and take control of your opponent.

- New full player AI.

Understanding what your opponent is doing, making moves they're capable of - that's key to victory. So we've made the AI smarter, making moving targets and shots easier to connect with and giving defenders the ability to understand where you are in the field - and react.

FIFA 22 also introduces 'Unique Opponent Interactions', which will create varied and unpredictable gameplay by adding more personality to every player, even those you know best.

FIFA 22 introduces 'Replayability.' Replayability gives you the ability to instantly review any action from your last game using the observation tools found in the new Match Report mode. It not only allows for greater scrutiny of key moments but it also provides for a much deeper, more accurate analysis of your play.

New Kick-Off - drop-in and out of games, you can now decide at exactly the right moment to speed the game up for a fluid, action-packed match by kicking the ball off. Or spend a few seconds building your team in a tutorial and then speed the action up with the new Kick-Off mode.

- New Path to Glory (PTG) system.

You can now take down a superstar, even a big head coach, with the all-new "Path to Glory" system. Glory is measured in goals, not months, and your new path is determined by how many points you score on the new game setting called 'Glory Shots'. GAMECOCKOS

- Local career path.
