Initial Live Team Lab Work Initial Live Team Lab work included creating visual images of the final motion capture data from 'FIFA 22 - Creation Lab' and analyzing data in real time. We met with the following three Designers and revealed their initial concept. There is a small chance that these concepts may evolve into the actual gameplay we see in FIFA 22. DAKMA (Lead Mapper): DAKMA (Lead Mapper) : We knew immediately that we wanted to create a digital, realistic-looking world, a world of motion and emotion, with a very clear and strong color. My idea was to introduce a real world which is inspired by places I'd lived in - Berlin and Los Angeles. The work of German artist Harald Moser, known for his world map of the future, was a big influence, as well as Irish artist Bridget Riley's series of colour paintings, in which objects have a hybrid reality in between a living and non-living world. GPE (Digital Assets Creator): GPE (Digital Assets Creator): Being a virtual producer, working on this project, I was very keen to create something very realistic and something that would feel natural. Motion is the key to create such emotion. I have always had a passion for motion capture and animation, and motion capture technologies is something I have a lot of passion for. In FIFA 21, I had a great opportunity to work together with the game's motion capture director, Kevin "seph" Lind. I worked on testing out the whole motion capture suit and then spent a lot of time trying to understand which sections that need to be improved, which sections were added, or deleted. It is so difficult to create something that looks natural and believable at this kind of level. You need to create a believable model, a believable virtual environment, and you need to achieve a very high level of accuracy, but without looking too artificial. My favorite thing about these suits is that we are working with them for the first time. I'm looking forward to the day when we get feedback from the designers about the concept we have come up with. We'll let you know more details on this project as it develops. Livio (Lead Animator): Livio (Lead Animator): This is a game about football. My aim is to make the EA SPORTS FIFA 2K18 does a great job of evoking the feel and spirit of football through gameplay. There are new ways to control how your real-life squad plays and perform; whether it's through the improved Player Impact Engine, tackling animations or the new Ball Physics System. There's also a comprehensive suite of new features, such as Personal Dribbling and Ultimate Team. It's a living game that has been completely rebuilt. The companion app lets you share your scores, statuses, custom challenges and much more. The way you approach playing and managing games has never been more intuitive. Powered by Football The fundamental gameplay changes in FIFA 2K18 focus around how players control the ball, how you control your team, and how you deliver passes and shots. The team shooting system has been revamped, and now any player can score with a shot, pass or set piece, thanks to the revamped shot controls. You get the most freedom in how to play the game by using your teammates like AI assistants and set pieces to help you score goals. You can also completely change the outcome of a game using excellent rewind and strike controls, take advantage of all-new natural reactions to push opponents into risky mistakes, exploit the full range of formations, tactics and strategies, and more. FIFA 2K18 truly feels like football. Ball Physics The new Ball Physics System has been re-engineered from scratch to deliver greater intelligence and more accurate ball control. Footwork simulation - you can now really move in any direction and draw fouls by dodging opponents, pass, shoot, and shoot at the feet of defenders, and use your skills to beat the challenge. Ball control - with new and improved control, players can now make more realistic dribbles and turn sprints into a lot of effective power on the ball, and the ball moves intelligently as players move. Shot Control - players now shoot more naturally using new and improved shot controls, and the shots have different physics based on angle, location and direction. Comfort - no longer do players kick the ball uncontrollably or with specific body parts, such as knees. Passers can now pass the ball just as naturally as they did in the real game, which is great as pass feels better and more realistic.
