Q: How can I exclude standard items from PagedListSections? I have a PagedList where Item implements a generic interface. The interface has a couple of getters that I don't want to show to the user. Is there a way of overriding the data source or having the data source return PagedListSections without the getters? A: In

Item, override the following method `public PagedList GetItems() { return new PagedList(items, 25, 0); }` In your view model class, override the following method `public override PagedList GetItems() { return base.GetItems().Where(item => { return !item.GetExcludeProperty().HasValue; }); }` Q: Check if class is available in a namespace I have a class named Table in a namespace called coolnamespace. I then have a method called show(int i) which takes a 0cc13bf012
