In Perl DBI, is there an elegant way of selecting all columns in a table, not specifying a column number? To be more specific, I have an array @table_fields that holds the column names of the table (which is dynamic). I want to select all rows from that table. So I do the following $self->{dbh}->selectall_arrayref($self->{ds}->{db}, @table_fields, 'c'); Is there a better way of doing this? A: with code sample @table_fields = qw(tablename column_name...) $self->{ds}->{db}->selectall_arrayref($self->{ds}->{db}, @table_fields, {}, {}, { key_col => 'key_col' }, { key_col => 'key_col' }, { key_col => 'key_col' }, { key_col => 'key_col' },); S1 Photo Gocée pendant la nuit Téléchargez les photos d'un autre soir : nuit du 21/03/2012 Regarder cette page La photo a été prise le soir du 21/03/2012 e79caf774b
