I compiled a C++ library from source. I would like to package it on Arch Linux. How do I package it? A: Run the autoconf/automake scripts from the source package. See if your package uses libtool. The proper setup documentation can be found here (pdf): but from their normally quiescent state. The G allele at rs2075650 is associated with reduced endometrial cancer risk and the G allele at rs3817198 is associated with increased risk of endometrial cancer (Wang et al., [@B49]). In accordance with the protective effect of the G allele at rs2075650, we found a positive association of endometrial cancer risk with homozygote or recessive model carriers of this polymorphism. Homozygotes or recessive model carriers of the G allele at rs3817198 had a significantly increased risk for endometrial cancer. As we have previously reported, the G allele 0cc13bf012
