Recently, we have been working on incorporating webcam security into the game. In circumstances where the game encountered a webcam, it is notified immediately without loading the game. We have prepared a feature indicating the number of notifications from a web browser. This measure allows players to immediately recognize instances and will help eliminate inconvenience by going through the process. However, is there any way to make it so that anyone viewing the web cam cannot easily recognize the browser's position at any time?

I'm glad that, after working separately for over three years, we are able to share the project to the public. There are many who have to spend a lot of time waiting for a project's progress, but the development is proceeding well. I appreciate the efforts and concerns of all the supporters who have been following us over the years, and I hope that from here on, the game can be enjoyed by everyone. Let's have an enjoyable experience that everyone can enjoy together.

I am very pleased to welcome everyone to my blog!...Although I have only been blogging for a few months I am enjoying my newfound opportunity to share what I love with the world. I hope this means as I continue to grow in the blogging world that I will get more motivated to post more often! In life it takes a lot of learning, changing, and growing to make anything worthwhile. The same can be said for my hobby of photographing. There is so much that I do not know and am not taking advantage of for this enjoyable part of my life. There are so many resources that I am missing out on. I hope that this blog can help me grow and learn new things while making fun and easy updates for all of you!Progress in local entanglement - Michele Arigoni - The question to find local entanglement is in fact a key concept
