Re: sorry, but it is not a thumb generator, it is a simple web crawler to create movie information on my computer. So why the thumbs is not important? Originally posted by eille i am not able to install and its saying fails to install... When you say "install" do you mean to install WDTV ThumbGen, or download it as part of a download package? I am the web developer. It's a simple web crawler to create movie information on my computer. When I say "install" I mean to install WDTV ThumbGen itself. I do not know if what you are trying to do is relevant for WDTV ThumbGen, but what I am trying to do is to create a web-crawler that uploads data from third party movie websites into my WDTV ThumbGen application to create movie information sheets for the movies I am interested in. Re: Originally posted by eille Sorry, the problem i am facing while download...error Do you get any error when you download the file? WDTV ThumbGen Description: Re: Originally posted by eille the issue is while downloading "i got an alert that WDTV ThumbGen is already on my computer. Do you want to "X" to quit the program. I choose "X" but nothing happens". The screen you are seeing is a screen you are seeing while WDTV ThumbGen is downloading. If you had only noticed that a movie you downloaded was not showing up on WDTV ThumbGen, or you had no idea where the downloaded files are after you had downloaded them, then I would say something was wrong with WDTV ThumbGen. Like I said above, there's a way to make WDTV ThumbGen download all the movies in your collection when you click on the movie you want, but there's also a way to do this if you run WDTV ThumbGen at the same time, from another application, say iTunes. What's New In?

> >>>> WDTV ThumbGen is a comprehensive application that you can use to create movie thumbnails and information sheets by downloading data from various movie review websites. > >>>> The desired movie directories or individual files can be selected using the integrated file browser and the movie is smartly detected based on the folder or the file name. The search can be filtered according to your preferences, as you can enter extra keywords to find, include or exclude the movie sheets, the external subtitles and the thumbnails. > >>>> The application features multiple user-interaction options, from user-controlled processing ('Manual Mode') or a semiautomatic mode (default tasks are performed automatically) to automatic processing (you are prompted to choose the movie when more matches are found) or the 'I'm Feeling Lucky Mode', which implies no user interaction at all. > >>>> You can set the program to update existing movie sheets during the download process and create playlists that include the selected media files. Also, it allows you to test a template, generate movie info (NFO) files and manually create a movie sheet based on the metadata file or even user-defined data. > >>>> You can add thumbnails for empty folders (e.g. series root folders) and insert episode numbers over the generated thumb. Exclusion lists, Telnet / SSH support with predefined and custom commands and an embedded video player are other advantages that this application comes with. > >>>> In addition to this, you can import data automatically from Ember Media Manager, XBMC, 'My Movies' folder, as well as export your collection as XML to Collectorz.com Movie Collector or Ant Movie Catalog. > >>>> To conclude with, WDTV ThumbGen provides you with a simple method for generating thumbnails for your favorite movies and TV shows and create a complete movie collection. > >>>> WDTV ThumbGen is a comprehensive application that you can use to create movie thumbnails and information sheets by downloading data from various movie review websites. > >>>> The desired movie directories or individual files can be selected using the integrated file browser and the movie is smartly detected based on the folder or the file name.
