Q: Is downvoting a question allowed here? I thought this could work as a comment to the question. The OP asks about a edit rule. There is no answer, just a comment that it is a bad question. But maybe it should be closed or deleted. And I wonder if it is allowed, then it also could be done in other areas, not only askubuntu.com So, is it allowed here? A: Downvoting is allowed and encouraged on this site, just like anywhere else on the StackExchange network. Please don't consider it rude. A: I would encourage you to vote as you feel appropriate and to avoid the judgment and victim mentality that this question fosters. A: First off, you shouldn't be downvoting questions just because you don't know the answer to them. A question which isn't easily answered by google and where the relevant tag isn't added can be marked as a duplicate and left open for those that know the answer. But back to the question: Saying that a question is bad is OK. Just check if it fits the quality guidelines of the site. If you feel that there is a lot of work, and you are unable to judge if this is the case, flag it for moderator attention. In this case I agree with David in that it is a duplicate. You can of course always speak to other users about the question and tell them that you think it is too bad. Just be careful to not instigate a flamewar. As an end note: Yes downvoting is allowed and encouraged. Just do the proper flagging of the question first and see if you are able to prevent further downvoting. NASHVILLE, Tenn. (Reuters) - A Nashville substitute teacher is facing federal charges in the alleged gang rape of a 15-year-old student, police said on Friday, after local media reported she had confessed to her crime but lost her job. According to an arrest affidavit, the accused 33-year-old teacher, Sherita Dixon-Cole, taught at Central High School during the 2016-2017 school year, when the sexual assault allegedly occurred. Dixon-Cole was arrested on May 13, according to the affidavit, which was filed in a Davidson County court. She had been released on $15,000 bond and is due in court in April.

Alcohol and Alcoholism 101 Alcohol and the Industry Alcohol is the most commonly abused substance in our society. And while many individuals think of drinking as an individual matter, the reality is that drinking patterns and behavior follow social trends. According to the Center for Disease Control, in 2005 there were 7,377 alcohol-related traffic fatalities, which is a 20% increase in fatality rates from 4 years earlier. One drink (2 oz.) of alcohol is related to a 4% increase in traffic accidents. The risk for experiencing a death in a motor vehicle accident increases with alcohol consumption as well. A glass of wine or a beer before driving is related to the greatest risk. In fact, it is strongly recommended that alcohol consumption be limited to two drinks or less before driving. According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), the following are the top contributing factors associated with causing automobile accidents: Use of cell phones while driving – 25% Drunk driving – 25% Speeding – 24% Driving while distracted – 22% According to the NHTSA, sober drivers are responsible for 22% of automobile accidents. Drunks are responsible for 25% of the accidents. And people distracted by their cell phones are the next biggest contributor to accidents, at 25%. What are the Signs and Symptoms of Alcoholism? If you or your loved one is suffering from addiction to alcohol or have recently begun to drink or use drugs excessively, there are several possible warning signs that could indicate a problem exists. As with any illness, addiction is a complex condition that can be far more difficult to detect than some other diseases. However, the signs are many and often are easily recognized. Any individual who thinks that he or she may have a drinking problem should speak to a health care professional right away to
