I get errors. I have checked the manual to no avail and searched on Google for the answer. I have the following line in my app's model: ActiveRecord::Base.connection.transaction { I can't have anything else in my model so it doesn't make sense to put that line in. I am wondering if it is an issue with MySQL or with Rails? Thanks for any help in advance. A: I had problems with MySQL and MySQL MySqlHelper. Transactions did not work. MySQL locked their connection and had to use the default connection. Feasibility of total laparoscopic hysterectomy for early-stage cervical cancer. Check out how to play the gameHow to play:This is a first person puzzle platformer. You take the role of a broken down bike and must overcome the obstacles in your path and return home to repair yourself. You have 6 shots in the game, to use them properly or at all you will need to strategise and complete your course.Features:8 Adventure levels Over 100 redstone challenges Tower Defence Death match Modes Multiplayer Local Multiplayer ReviewsI thought this was a nice game to play for a bit at the arcade.8/10 Indie Game Reviews I love the idea of playing a top down game like this, but it felt more of a tabletop RPG/board game than a single player game.5/10 - Cheating Gamer I'm not much of a platformer player, and the controls seemed floaty and hard to aim... I find this harder to look past, as I like my games to be aimed.5/10 - Space DorkCouturier d'un prix (The dressmaker of the year) is a poem in five twelve-syllable lines by Alexander Pope. It was first published in 1725 as part of The Works of Alexander Pope, in six cantos. The work is based on Pope's French translator, Rose-Hélène Prévost de La Forge (1691-1750). The "prize" for which the poet's "dresses" (poems) are awarded is beauty. "A most beautiful and beautiful lady" is displayed in an admiring state before the judges. The text is illustrated by a woodcut after an engraving by Robert Jacobson. Synopsis The work is a satire on contemporary fashion. Publication history The poem was included in Volume III of The Works of Alexander Pope, published in 1729. A similar poem in praise of beauty was published in 1739 in Thomas Nabbes's Christmas Carols, No. XI: A New-Year's Present. ...Literally? For the past week I've been telling all of you-knowing full well (pathetically) that cats aren't likely to alter their "...get off this lawn" stance and actually adopt the trick or treating feline humans who visit their Halloween haunts everyday-that our cat, Indy, will do nothing during the holidays because he's NOT a greedy turd of a human who cares about how he “feels” about anything other than what he’s got in his billfold these days. Honesty in hope that our reader poll would clearly state that cats aren’t, in general, into how we “feel” about anything. And I was right. Indy has no interest whatsoever in going out to put out some goodies with Aurora or any of my sisters and brother...or being in any other costume than the legendary model kitty, Miguel De La Rosa (you know, the absolute FIRST time he ever wore black.) ...just a kitty. Technically, it’s like being a cat. Except you get paid (or, at least, I do...), a couple of treats (once a week) as well as a nice clean litter box that’s constantly stocked with catnip. (I call my parents and tell them that our cat, Indy, will be spending the next couple of weeks at a warm, dark home.) No matter what the weather has been like, our usually calm cat, Indy, has been honking for his treats/catnip/clean litter box everyday like he’s absolutely angling for being a fugitive. ...like all cats are (THEIR OWN KITTY PROBLEMS notwithstanding),* and has not stopped since he’s been wearing this ridiculous costume. The fact is, he’d rather be sporting this classic millstone of a “whatever costume I wear is fine in my book as long as I get to eat food and go to the litter box daily” dishabille. NOTHING. As in: NOT COMING OUT TO EAT OR IF HE THINKS HE’S GOING TO CATCH A YARD DOG BY ITS FUZZY TAIL WHERE THERE ARE PAWS OF MINE. Any other normal cat will LOVE a night where he

Q: How can I automatically load a type with a custom FuncLoader when the compiler has a type error? I have a case where I have a number of asynchronous callback methods, like this: `public static void MyAsyncMethod(object arg, AsyncCallback cb, object state) { cb.BeginInvoke(state, arg, null, cb.EndInvoke, arg); }` Because asynchronous callback methods need to be explicitly assigned as `async`, I'm using an extension method to make this as simple as possible. `public static void Async(this Action a, Func cb, object arg = null) { cb.BeginInvoke(arg, null, null, cb.EndInvoke, arg); }` There are a number of objects where I'd like to use this extension method, but of course I can't call it without an overload. `public static void MyMethod(object arg, AsyncCallback cb, object state) { //... code that should work... Async(cb, arg); // no overload //... code that should work... }` The problem is that when the compiler can't find an overload for `Async`, it will tell me it is invalid. error CS0117: 'MyMethod
