The Photoshop Tutorial library is an invaluable source of education and training for Adobe Photoshop. Below are some downloadable tutorials to help you master the program. Adobe Photoshop Tutorials Beginner Tutorials Pro Tutorials 3D Tutorials Advanced Tutorials Ask HN: Should I invest in this company? - virtualt I think this company is fairly unique, if not genius in the way they market their program. This company looks like a cool side project while I'm at work so I'm bringing it home with me. My boss finds it interesting enough and has already asked about it. I can't believe the author would be able to make $10,000 to $50,000 through adsense/Google Adwords. I don't have a ton of free time, so if I can make a few hours worth of profit, I'll definitely do so. I don't have a ton of 'hype' in my area, but I do have a lot of traffic that will generate interest. If you are interested in hearing about this company, message me and I'll tell you all about it. ===== cperciva "I do have a lot of traffic that will generate interest" I'm assuming here that you're not going to be providing any "value" to the company -- nothing that indicates that you're going to be able to tap into existing market, or provide them with information that they couldn't figure out for themselves. I have absolutely no idea what value you can add to their business plan, so I won't make any judgments; but I'm guessing it's nothing more than "I'll make $5 per 10,000 people who click on this page". ~~~ virtualt I'm not making much money online, so why not spend my time on something that I enjoy. I've also been a pro programmer for a long time. I feel that I can come up with a good idea like this. I just have to find a way to maximize the value. ~~~ cperciva _...so why not spend my time on something that I enjoy_ I think that's a very bad reason to come up with a business plan. _I've also been a pro programmer for a long time._ That sounds like a very good reason. _I just have to find a way to maximize

Photographers in particular are heavy users of Photoshop, so we'll cover Elements first in this post. If you're a graphic designer, web designer or emote creator, you'll also find this tutorial useful. Why Use Adobe Elements Instead Of Photoshop? Adobe Photoshop is expensive and will run you over $1000 (even if you don't buy most of the extra features), while Adobe Elements is more affordable and comes with a free trial. In this post, we'll talk about the most used features of Elements, so you can decide if you want to pay that much. What The Free Version Of Photoshop Elements Offers Elements gives you a free trial for a single user. The trial is limited to three months and your license will expire after that. If you're not happy with the trial version, you can purchase Photoshop Elements for $69.99. If you need more than one user, you can add up to 50 users to your account. You can use Elements without purchasing the paid version. However, it will not be able to access the more complex features like layers and more. You cannot use Elements to edit video. If you need to edit videos or if you're a graphic designer, you'll need to use Photoshop. Elements Features – A Few Things You Should Know Adobe Elements doesn't have many features. Those features that it does have, work very well. Elements does not come with all of the features in the official version of Photoshop. The more basic features you need, the less feature-intensive Photoshop Elements is. It only has layer effects, curves, perspective and change color options. It has filters, most of which are effects and don't affect your raw images. Here are some of the more important features that Photoshop Elements has: Effects Image Adjustments Filters Frame Grab Make new from old How to Use Photoshop Elements Elements comes with a quick tutorial that walks you through the most basic features. It will also walk you through the process of creating new documents. The tutorials are simplistic and won't teach you much about how Photoshop Elements works. To start, select your raw file. To do that, you'll see the screen shown below: 05a79cecff
