Roblox is a social platform for users to create 3D games and virtual worlds called “robots” with the Lua programming language. The Roblox website has an educational theme, and the website has a tutorial mode to allow users to create their first game, along with a built-in programming language called Roblox Studio that allows users to write, develop, test, and publish their games. Unlike video game platforms such as Steam or the Nintendo eShop, Roblox’s website does not host third-party games. Instead, Roblox users can create and upload their games to the Roblox website. The website currently hosts over 400,000 total games. According to Forbes, Roblox is the most popular website for children ages six to ten. The very first Roblox game was developed in the fall of 2004. However, most of the early games were created using an online battle game, called the Construction Set, which was accessible through Roblox's website. Most of the early games, however, were all single player and had been developed for a fixed length. In the spring of 2006, David Baszucki, the CEO of the company, decided to add a multiplayer dimension to Roblox games in order to encourage more people to create them. At that time, the website had around 600 users and 5 total games. In the fall of 2006, the Roblox Community Design Contest was announced, a contest in which the Roblox Community would vote on the best theme and most user-friendly idea for Roblox. On February 22, 2007, the winner of the contest was announced, and that theme was Minecraft. Roblox immediately began offering Minecraft-themed versions of Roblox Studio and, later, the entire Roblox website.

Shortly after, the new page theme, Battle of the Builders, was officially released. In the spring of 2007, the game developer Jimmy Riech, who had a background working on The Sims PC game, introduced a new graphical engine to Roblox. This engine, later named Life, was built to display 3D and 2D avatars; to program logic; and to display the settings of the player's environment. After much testing, testing, and testing, it was released to the public in November 2007. Shortly after, the company released a new Roblox Studio program called the Block, allowing users to create their own games on the website, and the Block also Roblox is a multiplayer video game, in which players can build their own worlds, or "sandboxes," as they are called. This in-game sandbox is a way to create, share, and engage with 3D content while learning how to code, design, manage, and market a video game. Players are able to choose the characters they want to play as and make the models of their buildings and objects for these characters, giving this game a very immersive experience. Roblox also allows players to play with friends, explore, take part in role play, and even download and play games created by other players. Check out what players are saying about Roblox on RobloxReviews.com! QUESTION: Why is there a need to make free robux? ANSWER: You can purchase robux as in-game currency that will allow you to buy items, from clothing and hats, to weapons. However, there are many things that you can buy and receive for free; such as "Key items" and "Poke items," which are very useful. These include things such as the Robux LED sign, the Robux Toy Guns, and the Robux Key-Door Hyperplator. If you are wondering how to make Robux, that is not the way to go. You can only get Robux by playing the game itself. However, many players are purchasing these items and receive robux as a reward. Some of the things you can purchase, include;

- ▶ A Robux sign: This is the only item that allows you to get free robux, and so many people who have purchased this item report that they had the best luck getting robux from playing the game itself.
- ▶ The Robux Toy Guns: There are some guns and other guns that you can purchase that will allow you to earn more robux as you fire them.
- ▶ The Robux Key-Door Hyperplator: This item allows you to transform real-life doors into highly useful animatronic bots that will not only take robux, but they will also make the robux drop down to robux.com, which will give you your free robux.
