Q: How do I add a column with added values by a column in another column I have a dataframe with multiple columns. For example I have a list of items that have some categories. item category price Thing car 1 Thing bicycle 2 Thing eating 3 I need to add two columns with values of price X number of occurrences. I want this to be more robust to the number of occurrences. item category price occurrences Thing car 1 1 Thing bicycle 2 2 Thing eating 3 3 So I want to generate two new columns: one with X number of occurrences of each category. The idea being that if I have more than one item like Thing, this will add on an extra zero to represent that. item category price occurrences Thing car
