"But when I pulled off the edge I just went for it." "It was so long ago, I don't even know how it happened." "And you were successful." "Yeah." " And that's great." "You're back, and that's all that matters." "So, what happened to Abby and Alex?" "I don't know." "There are only so many places they can have gone, right?" "Well, Alex kind of bent over backwards to keep me in the race, so I guess we'll see." "Does he have a sister?" "No." "But I've known his brother though." "I found him that night." "What, he was just sitting by the side of the road?" "Singing "The Star-Spangled Banner" to himself?" "He didn't recognize me." "But I guess it made an impression." "A few days later he came to the cafe." "He was holding his head." "I asked what was wrong, and he said he'd had a dream that night." "That he saw the landing." "That I got to the base." "That I saw the spaceships." "That it all happened." "And for a while I thought that maybe maybe it was true, because I was the one who did it, so I had to believe it." "And then I saw him that night and he turned out to be who he said he was." "What?" "What are you talking about?" "You're not who you think you are." "You're not in charge." "Well, that's what Abby said." "She said I was the pilot of the ship." "My parents were killed in the crash." "That's what happened to you." "But you were born with the mark." "To die in the
