The present invention relates to electrolytic capacitor. An electrolytic capacitor includes a capacitor element having a voltage dividing capacitor element and a current supplying capacitor element, and an outer casing.

In the voltage dividing capacitor element, for example, a thermistor of high resistance is inserted on the outer surface of a solid electrolytic capacitor element, which is formed by anode-side and cathode-side lead portions, and which is filled with an electrolyte solution, to serve as a voltage dividing resistor. The current supplying capacitor element includes an anode foil formed by sintering nickel powder containing manganese dioxide and aluminum to form a densified layer and a aluminum foil
