It is important to use the right packing material for your products, as it can damage certain items. For example, if you pack a DVD rom with a thick card or inside of a box with cardboard, the box may dent or crack the DVD. Note: If the package bulges or is damaged, contact us.

Q: How can I change the routing of an AJAX POST? I have a form with a hidden input. The value is set by the user clicking an element on the page. The value is a timestamp. The next step is to update a table based on that timestamp. The timestamp is currently in the route so I need to update it. I'm trying to figure out how to update the routing and no matter what I try I can't get it to be located.

I'm currently using jquery and ajax and a route in the controller. public ActionResult ProcessROCForm(string remote_data_id) { if (!string.IsNullOrEmpty(remote_data_id)) { //Some code return PartialView(); } return

PartialView(); } [HttpPost] public void ProcessRecords() { DateTime timestamp = DateTime.UtcNow; int remote_data_id = Convert.ToInt32(remote_data_id); int ID = Common.Utilities.API.GetAPIConnection 6d1f23a050
