When i load the page for the first time, it works, the data shows, but when i load the page again the data does not show. Im using php and js `$.ajax({ url: "get('base_url');?>index.php/new/results", dataType: 'json', cache: false, success: function(data) { $('#result').html(data); } })` and the html AJAX call returned this: and the js `$(document).ready(function(){`

$("#h1").click(function(){ $('#result').load('') }) }) A: Try

something like this

$("#h1").click(function(){

$('#result').load('') }) }) You need to remove that semi colon from your success because it stops the page reloading. Also don't use the #result selector to redirect the

provides several callbacks for handling any ajax http responses. I
