Police say the accident was reported around 2 a.m. on Interstate 77 southbound at Davidson Street. The driver of a Toyota Corolla, 19-year-old Anderson Manuel III, was pinned between the vehicle, the semi-truck and the concrete retaining wall. Officers say after several hours of trying to free Manuel, he suffered cardiac arrest and was taken to a nearby hospital where he was pronounced dead. The truck driver, identified as Adolphus G. Blanton III, 55, was not injured. Police say the crash is still under investigation, but the speed limit was in effect at the time of the crash. Blanton was traveling southbound on I-77 with Blanton Trailers as the company he works for. The car's driver was traveling northbound on the highway and that impact occurred on the Davidson Street exit ramp.Review: Hypnotic Dogs by Lyndsay Faye "I've always wondered what it would be like to be a dog, to see the world from the perspective of a canine, to have four legs and play with all the toys that we have. This is a chance for me to fully experience that." For as long as I can remember there has been a desire within me to change my body in some way. I've been on diets, I've been to the gym, I've been to the plastic surgeon... I don't know what it is, but I am always interested in trying new things. I am fascinated with almost anything that provides a new perspective on life. So in an effort to change my physical appearance, I've taken to animals. I've always wanted to see what it would be like to be a dog, to see the world from their point of view, to have four legs and play with all the toys that we have. This is a chance for me to fully experience that. The world of dogs is somewhat unexplored. We don't have a lot of insight into what goes on with them
