Adobe Photoshop Lightroom CC 2018 v13.0.1.0797 + Crack [CracksNow].A. Technical Field The present invention relates generally to communications and computer networks. More particularly, the present invention relates to a method and apparatus for dynamically and appropriately adjusting the strength of an access point based upon the location of the client. B. Background of the Invention A basic function of most wireless communications systems is to transfer data between a base station and a mobile station. Typically, the base station acts as a hub for communications with a plurality of mobile stations. Each mobile station is locally situated and, for convenience, such mobile stations are sometimes referred to as "stations." Mobile stations are not necessarily limited to wireless data transfer, and are typically adapted for voice communications. Each mobile station acts as an access point to the base station and other mobile stations. While a mobile station can act as an access point to other mobile stations, a mobile station generally cannot act as a base station to other mobile stations. Communications systems often include a base station and a plurality of mobile stations. Each mobile station is capable of receiving and transmitting data in wireless communications with the base station. The base station has the ability to manage communications between the plurality of mobile stations and also the ability to manage communications among other base stations. One problem in communications systems is mobility. When a base station communicates with a mobile station, the base station must account for the relative motion of the base station and the mobile station. The relative motion of the base station and mobile station can be very great and is often unpredictable.
